CPG Completes Acquire Santana Holdings Corporation

CPG International, Inc. (CPG), a leading manufacturer of engineered building and industrial products, today completed its previously announced acquisition of Santana Holdings Corporation, a privately held fabricator of engineered building products. The combination of CPG's Comtec Industries and Santana will create a market leader in the synthetic locker and bathroom partition products industry.

"The addition of Santana Products and its Hiny Hiders® brand of bathroom products complete an important step in developing our position as a global leader," said John R. Loyack, President of CPG.

CPG paid $34 million for 100% of the outstanding stock of Santana. The purchase price was funded through borrowings under the CPG's existing credit facility and a $30 million issuance of senior unsecured floating-rate that was completed today.

"We were very pleased with the demand and pricing of our floating-rate offering", said Scott Harrison, Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer.
